Before any announcement of a new calibre or change of component, the depositor will check that the movements comply with the latest version of the deposit specifications, available at <https://www.cosc.swiss/certification/conditions-de-certification>.

Any exception to these deposit specifications shall be subject to a concession granted by the COSC. A time limit to be defined at the time of acceptance by the COSC applies to specific requests requiring a development approved by the Board of Directors, which will determine the economic implications.
